HALLOWEEN LUNCHEON PROVES DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Despite the inclemency of the weather, the first of the series of luncheons to be given at the Nineteenth Century club this season proved a most delightful affair on Monday.

A Halloween decorative scheme had been most artistically carried out under the direction of Miss Frances Cole. The lights were softened by pumpkin yellow shades and beautiful yellow blossoms, chrysanthemums and dahlias adorned the daintily appointed tables, where the places were marked by Halloween cards.

Upon their arrival the guests were welcomed by Mrs. Hill Bond, chairman and other members of the good-fellowship committee and in the dining room the special hostesses for the day who greeted them were Miss Octavia Love, chairman of the luncheon committee; Mrs. Randolph Chears, vice-chairman; Mrs. George C. Wollons, secretary, assisted by Mrs. J. L. Beauchamp and Miss Frances Cole.

A beautiful feature of the occasion was the music, including exquisitely rendered vocal numbers by Mrs. David L. Griffith and Miss Ella Gerber.

Mrs. G. A. Lavinson supervised the serving of the delicious menu, which was in keeping with the Halloween season, following which many of the guests remained for an afternoon at bridge.

Seated at the main table near the stage were officers and members of the board of directors. The Halloween decorative motif designed by Mrs. Ewing Lewis, which won a prize at the Tri-State fair, was used in the ornamentation of this table, seated at which were: Miss E. G. Willingham, B. F. Turner, W. V. Farabough, A. R. Hudson, W. E. Holt, Sam Nicky, Hugh Hayley, W. E. Barnes, Roscoe Browne, A. B. DeLoach, R. L. Jordan and Miss Mary Love.

Members of reception committee of the Memphis Art association, Mrs. Robert Galloway, chairman, and the officers of the association formed a congenial party at a table beautifully decorated with specimen chrysanthemums. The special guest of honor was Mr. Frederick A. Whiting, director of the Cleveland Art museum, others seated at the table being Misses Daniel Grant, Robert Galloway, Earl Harris, Cleland K. Smith, Walter Lane Smith, Frank N. Fisher, Fred Gamble, Mary Boyd, Miss Mary Robinson, Miss Florence McIntyre and Mr. C. C. Ogilvie.

Mrs. John Lucas, chairman, entertained the members of the Sunshine committee of the club. The committee's idea of bringing sunshine into the lives of the shut-ins, was typified by the white and gold dahlias which formed the artistic centerpiece, while sun-shiney little blossoms were thrust through the cards which marked the places. Those seated at the table were: Misses L. A. Street, E. J. McCormack, Frank Herbers, Claude Tully, J. P. Carey, R. B. Logan, A. C. Menages, Thornton Buchanan, Joseph Mettie, Julius Goodman, O. H. Mueller, and Misses Maybelle Flippin, Gertrude Johnston and Julia Nolly.

Among the most delightful affairs of the afternoon was the presentation party tendered by Mrs. Percy Finlay, who had as her guests Mayor Paine, Mr. Charles Shannon, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Edgar, Mrs. S. J. Ellis, Mrs. Barney Harris, Mr. Walter Chandler, Mr. John T. Shea, Miss Bess White, Miss Cecile Finlay, Mr. Clifford Davis, Miss Elizabeth Berlin, Mr. Thomas Fannierley, Mrs. J. S. Short, Dr. J. J. Durrett, Judge and Mrs. H. H. Barker. A basket of yellow chrysanthemums and ferns formed the centerpiece of the large circular table and the places were marked by clever election cartoons, drawn by J. P. Alley on "the big election" which the inscription said would be "settled tomorrow." Mrs. J. P. Hill entertained at a daintily appointed table, formed with chrysanthemums, while Halloween cards marked the places. She had as her guests Mrs. Gibson Patterson, of Nashville, and Misses J. M. McCormack, M. C. Smith, Louis Thornton and R. D. Owen.

Mrs. M. S. Burnett entertained in special compliment to Miss Ellen L. Lewis, the guest of Mrs. J. R. Martin. The table was decorated with chrysanthemums and Halloween cards marked the places. After the luncheon a box party at the Orpheum theater was formed by the guests, who were: Miss Lewis, Misses Martin, N. W. Christianson, W. L. Crist, R. D. Rabold and J. E. Dawson.

Mrs. Austin Tindall presided at the table, which had a centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums. The places were marked by yellow cups holding saited nuts and bonbons, while Halloween pen sketches adorned the same cards. Among Mrs. Tindall's guests were the honoree, Mrs. Jere Clapp West, of Bedford, Pa.; Mrs. William Petty, of Pittsburgh; Mrs. Arthur Robinson, Mrs. A. W. Scheve, and Mrs. Gilbert Palmer.

At a table prettily decorated with chrysanthemums and the places marked by Halloween favors, Mrs. Warren Brown entertained as her guests Misses W. T. Fride, N. H. Groveson, Dudley Dumas, Will Moore, Floyd McDonald, T. M. Cathey, Grover McCormick and Howard Clark.

Mrs. Elliott Lang, whose table was artistically decorated in yellow and white, chrysanthemums in a tall crystal vase and bonbon cups of yellow and white filled with mints of the same shade, had as her guests: Mrs. A. A. Hollowell, J. C. Stanley, W. C. Schwalmeyer, J. B. Stanley and Miss Gladys Crawley, of Little Rock.

Mrs. Hugh Street's table was artistically decorated in yellow, the place cards and bonbon baskets carrying out the Halloween idea. Those who had the pleasure of being Mrs. Street's guests were: Misses J. W. Sykes, H. O. Scott, S. L. Bode, J. H. Harrison and F. E. Neathery.

Mrs. J. W. Norris also observed a yellow motif in her decorations of chrysanthemums and bonbon cups. Autumn foliage gracefully placed about the table added to the attractiveness of the table. Mrs. Norris had as her guests: Misses Fenton Albright, Henry Palmer, W. G. Stumpe and Misses Anna McCollum and Agnes Pendergrast.

Mrs. John Flautt's table had as a centerpiece a basket of dahlias and her place cards were yellow baskets adorned with tiny black cats. Those who were Mrs. Flautt's guests were: Misses M. T. Roush, James S. Cain, Walter Smith, E. C. Bell and P. D. Martin.

Others who entertained with delightful small parties were: Misses E. L. Harrison, Sam Hejoch, Sr., B. Wohlsmuth, M. Goss, K. R. Armistead, Thomas Sherron, J. H. Lumpkin, A. B. Bartholomew, H. G. Lambert, George Bone, E. C. Klaber, C. W. Friend, Ben Spears, L. LeVesey, Irbey Bennett, J. D. Allen, Sr., T. M. Macbeth, E. R. Washburn, W. S. Myrick, Ernest Adams, Hill Bond and Misses Lida C. Moore, Edith Riley and Frances Cole.

MR. AND MRS. EDINGTON COMPLIMENT VISITOR

Mr. and Mrs. John Price Edington will entertain delightfully with a box party at the Orpheum theater on Monday evening in special compliment to Mrs. Pauline Rowley, of Chicago, who is a charming guest at Baldwin, the home of Mr. Albert S. Caldwell, on Waldran boulevard.

After the theater the guests will enjoy the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Edington in their home on Carr avenue, where a delicious supper menu will be served.

Numbered in the party will be: Mrs. Rowley, Mr. Caldwell, Mrs. Elizabeth Robert, of California; Mr. John Morzan, Mrs. Hubert H. Reese, Mr. Rufus Armistead, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Carter, Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Elliott and Mr. and Mrs. Edington.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. Rowley will be complimented with a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Carter; on Wednesday evening Mr. Caldwell will entertain at dinner in her honor and on Thursday she will be the honoree at a luncheon tendered by Mrs. J. S. Robinson.

MISS CANMAN HONOREE AT DELIGHTFUL BOX PARTY

Mrs. W. J. Russell and Mrs. F. W. Reisinger were the charming hostesses at a box party at the Orpheum theater on Monday afternoon, specially complimenting a pretty bride-elect, Miss Vance Canman. Following the program the members of the party enjoyed a daintily appointed tea in the home of Mrs. Russell, on Harbert avenue. The table was draped in shiny lace over yellow satin and the centerpiece was a yellow chrysanthemum arranged in a basket, while gold tapers burning in crystal candlesticks added to the artistic effect.

The guest list included eighteen

CLUBDOM

BEAUTIFUL NUMBERS FEATURE BEETHOVEN CONCERT

The first monthly concert of the Beethoven club was held at Goodwyn institute on Saturday afternoon, when a large and representative audience enjoyed the artistic program.

The opening numbers, Etude, by Schytte, and "Juba Dance," by Deb, were rendered by Mrs. Agnes Adams, with her usual skill and finish.

Mrs. V. D. Hunt sang with much feeling, the "Song of the Soul," by Grieg, and "Without Thee," by D'Harcourt.

Mrs. Hunt has recently moved to Memphis from Nashville, and the sweetness and beauty of her voice, combined with a charming personality, makes her a welcome addition to musical circles.

A most artistic number, Prelude in C sharp minor, by Rachmanninoff, also Cantique d'Amour, "Harmonies Poetiques et Religieuses," by Liszt, were played by Leonard Brabec, whose mellow touch and artistic shading brought out the sweetness and richness of the numbers.

Mr. Brabec is a newcomer to Memphis, and added much to the pleasure of the guests.

Mrs. F. W. North sang with deep understanding Cavatina, "Ah, S'estinto," by Artil, and "The Sweet of the Year," by Spross.

Mrs. J. L. McRee, one of Memphis' sweetest singers, gave with perfect ease and beauty of tone, the aria "Linda del Chamounix," by Donizetti. Craft, Margaret Neal, of Forrest City, Ark., closed the program with "Villanelle," by Debussy, and "Farlo," by Artil. Mrs. Neal possesses a beautiful voice, with dramatic qualities and her two songs were a fitting climax to the artistic recital.

The accompanists, Mrs. G. B. McCoy, Miss Olive Wright and Mr. F. W. North, added greatly to the beauty of the songs.

Mrs. R. D. Owen and Mrs. H. M. Woodson, chairmen for October, are to be congratulated upon the success of the concert.

Mrs. J. P. Hill, president, and Miss Belle Wade, chairman monthly concerts, were assisted in welcoming the guests by the special hostesses, Mrs. W. E. Hyde, Mrs. A. E. Knappmeyer, Mrs. Adam Jett and Mrs. J. A. Hughes.
